INTRODUCTION

1. Overseas Sports Visits (OSV) or Overseas Training Camps offer a great opportunity to our servicemen and women whilst also providing a compensating measure to operational commitments and an excellent retention tool for our personnel. Sporting visits give teams the opportunity to compete against opposition from different countries and cultures whilst in unfamiliar and potentially challenging conditions. The visits should be used to reward achievement or as a means of developing the team in preparation for a forthcoming season or key fixture or as a post season finale.

2. OSVs and Overseas Training Camps may be authorised provided the application complies with extant policy contained within References A and B.

3. This instruction does not apply to winter sports activities for which there are separate instructions available at Reference C, or for Adventurous Training activities within JSP 419.

4. A maximum of one OSV or overseas training camp may be authorised within each calendar year for a Sports team to compete at either Army, Corps¹ and Unit level or where the team is known to be participating in regular League, Cup or Corps competitions. An OSV will not normally be authorised if a team has travelled to either Zone 4 or 5 more than once within 2 years of the proposed visit. Training camps are not routinely authorised to Zones 4 and 5 locations (excluding Cyprus).

5. Organisers must note that public funds are not admissible for any part of an overseas sports visit. Applications for Army Sports Lottery (ASL) grants are to be submitted in accordance with Reference E. Where an OSV or Training camp is not eligible for an ASL grant the Director ASCB may in exceptional circumstances use his discretion and consider a grant from the ASCB Charitable Fund.

OVERSEAS SPORT VISIT

6. Duration. The purpose of an OSV is to take part in either a sporting competition or playing a series of fixtures². The number of games/fixtures may vary, however the number must be appropriate to the length of the visit itself. Visits should not normally be more than 14 days in length and applications for tours in excess of 14 days will be considered separately by the Ops Offr, ASCB. The fixtures must be organised in advance of the visit with suitable opposition and making use of safe and suitable sports facilities the organiser is responsible for confirming this detail with the in country sponsor. The organiser is to provide confirmation of the fixtures within the OSV application.

7. Participants. The maximum number of participants is listed in Reference A, Annex A to Part 2 Chapter 3. The maximum number of personnel eligible to attend an OSV will be strictly enforced by HQ ASCB. The responsibility for authorising the participation of individual service personnel on an OSV rests solely with the individual's Chain of Command (CoC).

8. Individual OSVs. OSVs are designed to develop team work and leadership and to boost camaraderie amongst team and squad members; authorisation for an individual to compete on an OSV will be considered out of the normal OSV submission process by HQ ASCB. However, for clarification the Individual must be competing in a bona fide Sports competition and be a recognised member³ of a Corps or Army Sports Association. The pursuit of individual hobbies or personal challenges will not be endorsed by HQ ASCB and funding will not be made available via the ASL: such sporting challenges are to be pursued at a servicemen's own expense, in their own time and whilst off duty.

² Sports Teams can conduct either an OSV or a UK based Trg Camp within the same year, however they may also conduct both in the same year in exceptional circumstances and with ASCB authority.

9. Sports Secretary Authority. Each OSV is to be approved by the relevant Army Sports Secretary to ensure the visit meets National Governing Body directives, is appropriate and takes into consideration all aspects of other extant policy including; safety management, support from suitably qualified officials, risk assessments, and appropriate consideration for those 'Risk to Life' sports. The Army Sport Secretary is to confirm that the team has been committed to Corps or Army run sports and has entered Corps and Army competitions during the preceding sports season.

10. In Country Sponsor. An invitation to visit or play in an organised competition from a sponsor in the host country is required before a visit can be organised. The sponsor can be military or civilian and may well be known to the sport through personal contacts or previous visits. This might be the PD Branch in Cyprus or BFG. Further advice can be obtained from Ops Offr, ASCB:

a. Acceptance. The organiser is not to commit any funding to the visit until all relevant clearance and authority requirements, security advice and funding have been resolved. This is particularly relevant where a Sports/Travel company is being used to organise the visit and requires a non-refundable deposit.

b. Accommodation. The sponsor may offer to provide or help to arrange accommodation. The organiser should be satisfied that the accommodation is fit for purpose and seek clarification from the in-country defence section that the accommodation is suitable and meets all necessary security requirements.

c. Transport. If required, the sponsor may offer to provide or help organise transport⁴. The organiser must be satisfied that in country transport meets JSP 800 standards and all nominated drivers in the visit party have the requisite driving licence and adequate driving insurance has been purchased.

11. Joint (Jt) Service Units and United Kingdom Armed Forces (UKAF) OSVs. Jt Service units may apply for an OSV through their lead Service Sports Board. UKAF sports teams should apply for an OSV through the sport's lead Service. Copies of any issued RAF or RN authority must be forwarded to HQ ASCB and are mandatory where an Army Sports Lottery grant application is being made. All Army personnel participating in a Jt or UKAF OSVs are to abide by the provisions of this instruction as appropriate. Where there is an RAF lead, organisers should note that the RAF operate a different DDH system where the sport association Chairman is the Responsible Person rather than the CO and Army participants will need to be familiar with and abide by any relevant Army policy. Advice can be sought from the RAF Sports Board at 22 Trg Gp for RAF specific policy⁵.

OVERSEAS TRAINING CAMPS

12. An overseas training camp is to be structured to enhance team building, fitness and skills of established sportsmen and women in preparation for a specific event. They will, therefore, be limited to those participants who have the proven ability or potential to benefit from high quality training and coaching in an environment that is not necessarily available in the UK.

13. The maximum number of participants for an OSV is listed at Reference A, Part 2 Chapter 3. However, in exceptional circumstances, an increase of up to 33% more personnel may be authorised for Army or representative team training camps. The responsibility for authorising the participation of individual service personnel on a training camp rests solely with the individual's CoC. A training camp will normally be limited to a maximum of 14 days which is to include travelling time. The following criteria should apply for all training camps:

- a. Participants must have the potential to compete as part of a representative team.
- b. It must have a properly structured training and conditioning programme, supported by a suitably qualified coach/trainer.
- c. It must have a clearly identified objective and be specifically target at an event or fixture at Corps or Army level. The training camp should be held within 3 months of the specific event for which the camp is convened.
- d. It is to be restricted to locations with an established military footprint (BFG, BFC, and BF Gib) or within UK or European locations (Zones 1, 2 and 3) to take advantage of better weather conditions for training and preparation.

14. UK Training Camps. Where it is not appropriate or affordable to conduct an OSV or overseas training camp a sports team may be permitted to conduct a training camp in the UK. Duty status will be granted for training camps that meet all aspects of policy. UK based training camps are not eligible for public funding and are to be entirely non-publicly funded. Teams are restricted to one training camp per year and for a duration of no more than seven days inclusive of travel. The maximum numbers eligible to participate will be the same as that articulated in Reference A. UK training camps may be eligible for an ASL grant in accordance with Reference E. UK training camp must be authorised by those listed below.

- a. Unit Teams. Training camps must be authorised by the CO.
- b. Corps Teams. Training camps must be authorised by HQ ASCB.
- c. Army Teams. Training camps must be authorised by HQ ASCB.

⁵ JSP752 Para 06.0108e defines the use of public funds for UKAF level training camps: Travel to training sessions is not permitted at public expense except when the UKAF and single-Service Sports Boards specifically authorise their respective personnel to travel at public expense to one training session each season.

Organisers of a UK based training camp for either an Army or Corps representative team are to submit Appx 1 to Annex A to opsbranch@ascb.uk.com at least 3 months prior to the event for ASCB authorisation. Once an activity is authorised, participation can only be approved by an individual's CO.

DEFENCE ENGAGEMENT

15. Current Defence priorities may present opportunities for Sport to be used to support Defence Engagement tasks in specific geographical areas and there may be considerable diplomatic and public relations value. Anyone seeking further guidance is to contact Ops Offr, HQ ASCB.

16. Cultural briefings in advance of an OSV to sensitive areas may be provided where appropriate and contact should be made with SO2 J3/J5, Defence Cultural Specialist Unit (DCSU), Bldg 567, RAF Henlow, Bedfordshire SG16 6DN: Mil Tel 95381 6291; Civilian Tel: 01462 851515 ext. 6291A

(Further clarification can be provided from HQ ASCB). The following exceptions apply when transiting through:

The flow chart at Annex E describes the process for organising and applying for an OSV or Overseas Training Camp.

21. Security. Security advice for the countries being visited is to be obtained from the either local or most appropriate G2 Sy Branch and, if advised to do so, from the in country Def Sect who may also on specific travel arrangements applicable to the country being visited. In all circumstances it is advisable to contact the Def Sect just prior to travelling to confirm the need for an in country security brief or update.

ORGANISATION SUPPORT

22. Travel and Training Camp Packages. There a number of discounted travel companies available on the internet who are willing to assist those organising an OSV or Overseas Training Camp. It is advisable that the organiser liaises with the Ops Offr, HQ ASCB before committing any funding to discuss the merits of using a Sports Tour Company.

23. Insurance. Service personnel who attend an authorised OSV will be classified as being on duty only while they are training/playing or involved in official activities associated with the visit or training camp. Service personnel will be classed as being off duty when they conduct personal or social activities that are not specifically associated with the visit or training camp. It is therefore strongly advised that all personnel have adequate medical and personal accident/liability insurance to guard against potential risks associated with travelling abroad. NGBs routinely direct that sports teams or individuals who compete in an overseas country have appropriate insurance for the duration of the visit⁹. It is recommended that the organiser purchases “Personal Travel Insurance” to cover against flight cancellations, deployment on operations and any other expenses (such as medical and repatriation costs) that might be incurred due to unforeseen circumstances. Organisers should consider group insurance as an appropriate option.

24. Armed Forces Compensation Scheme (AFCS). Details of the AFCS is available at Reference D. The Scheme provides compensation for illness, injury or death which is caused (wholly or partly) by an individual’s service in the Armed Forces. A payment is made from the Scheme where the claimant shows that, on the balance of probabilities, their injury is more likely than not to have been caused by service. Each case is decided on its individual merits taking account of all relevant evidence. For OSV and Training Camps compensation is only considered for injuries which are sustained during sporting activity where the activity was authorised prior to it taking place and where the injury is predominately caused by service. Activities include personnel participating in, officiating at or organising sporting activities. Therefore, if the AFCS is to apply, all Army OSVs and Training Camps are to be authorised by ASCB or equivalent.

25. Documentation. The organiser is to ensure that all personnel have the appropriate documentation, which should include as a minimum:

- MOD90 ID card.
- Passport with a minimum of 6 months left before it expires.
- Appropriate visa for the country being visited¹⁰.
- Travel documentation (Air tickets etc).

⁹ NGB policy regarding OSV Insurance is available from the Army sports secretaries who are to be contacted during the application process.

¹⁰ FC personnel may require a special visa depending upon the nationality. Specific details are available from the website of the Country being visited.

- Personal travel insurance policy documents.
- Driving licence.
- For OSV or Training Camps in Europe, European Health Information card.

26. General Data Protection Regulations (GDPR) All OSV and Training Camp organisers are to ensure that when they share personal data the recipients of that data are GDPR compliant. If this is not possible (in particular for non EU countries and organisations who do not have an Adequacy Agreement with the EU) then the senior officer signing the ASCB authority request must ensure that due diligence has been conducted on those organisations with whom they are sharing data.

27. Medical. Personnel are to liaise with their medical centre to establish if they require specific inoculations or prophylactics (anti-malaria etc) for the country they will be visiting. The organiser should also produce an appropriate medical plan, which should include details of local medical facilities, including their location and where necessary request details from the sponsor or the in country Def Sect. A plan for compassionate movement of personnel must also be included within the medical plan and promulgated before departure in accordance with JSP 751.

28. Cancellations and Amendments. Organisers are to inform HQ ASCB if the OSV or Training Camp is cancelled or any significant amendments to the dates or numbers attending the OSV or Training Camp before departing the UK.

29. Post Activity Report (PAR). Where an ASL Grant has been approved the organiser is to send a PAR to HQ ASCB (ASL Manager) within 6 weeks of the visit concluding. Details can be found in Reference E.

FUNDING

30. Public funding is not admissible for OSVs in accordance with JSP 660¹¹. All OSVs and Training Camps are to be non-publicly funded utilising, grants, sponsorship or personal contributions. The use of the defence travel system is not permitted for overseas travel and accommodation bookings. Sources of non-public funds include:

- a. Individual Contributions/Unit/Arms/SNPF. Individual contributions will normally be one third of the cost. Unit/Arms/SNPF will often provide grants but must be applied for through individual cap badge specific policy directives.
- b. Welfare Funds. Details of Welfare Funds are at Reference F. Grants will normally only be given for equipment.
- c. Sponsorship. Sponsorship must comply with extant policy and will be classified as non-public funding. Organisers must comply with Reference G.

¹¹ This includes the use of MOD road transport and Mod fuel cards.

d. Sports Lottery Funding. ASL members may apply for a grant as per Reference E. Organisers should note that the qualification rules are complex and an early application is encouraged.

e. BIBMTF. The procedure for applying for a BIBMTF grant is given in Reference H. Grants are currently limited to unit overseas sports visits as long as the sport is Categorised within Reference A and all participants are on duty.
